

Büchertiger Studio & Press

Newsletter

Hello and a wonderful autumn to you!

As you might have noticed, I didn't write four newsletters in the last year year as initially planned. Those who also read my blog know the reason for this: First a difficult pregnancy and then the birth of the twins Nikolas and Friederike kept me away from my studio. And so there simply was not much to talk about.

The instructions for the Coptic binding in German which I had planned to start selling by now are still far from finished. I hope I will find the time to start working on them again. But at the moment my priorities lie elsewhere, and I have no concrete plans for a launch of the book.

I was very happy about the great interest in my other instructional book "Six Ways to Make Coptic Headbands". To keep it in stock required almost all my studio time in the weeks since June. Other than that, I managed to make some more notebooks with an Asian stab binding, and developed this line a little further: They now have a head covered in a different paper than the covers for which I used Italian and other patterned paper.

My hope is that in the months to come I will manage to keep my other lines of books alive, too: The travel journals in a slipcase (plans are to make them larger), the jeansbooks, monsterbooks and the artist study books. And I would like to finish some of the artist books I thought about during hours spend waiting for this and that in daily visits in hospital since April. But time will show which of these projects and plans seem less important after nights without sleep, or loose priority over the growing demands of a pair of growing twins.

To celebrate the birth of my first son and daughter the notebooks which come in sets of two in my Etsy shop are on a 50% discount for my newsletter readers until end of September. Just shop and check out as usual but enter the keyword "twins" as a message to seller. I will refund the excess you paid via paypal refund.

I don't know yet when I will find the time for the next newsletter, or when there will be something to talk about. But I wish you a good time until then, with many happy hours spend with a beautiful book in your hands.

Greetings from the book tiger Hilke Kurzke

Wenn Sie diesen Newsletter nicht länger bekommen möchten, können Sie einfach per Email an contact@buechertiger.de abbestellen. If you received this accidentally, want the English version, or do not want to receive further letters at all, send simply an email to contact@buechertiger.de