

Pricelist Books and Prints

(as of 16th October 2020)

The prices in this list are valid until they are not – sorry!

Almost all of my books are one of a kind, so what's gone is gone. But I can probably make something similar at a comparable price, just ask.

In general listings do not reflect stock and availability.

Shipping Prices

All shipping is free when ordering through email to destinations within the UK and paying by BACS.

* for items of a value between 20 and 50 pounds, I decide on a case-by-case basis, depending on how much I spent on materials and other factors like size

Large Items

Depending on what you are ordering, prices may change if your order is large. Sometimes I'll be able to absorb the price (i.e. I can make it free for you) sometimes

Asian Stab bound books

These books have been bound in the traditional Japanese craft method. For this, first an inner binding is made with hand twisted paper cord, and the Japanese decorated paper backed with more Japanese paper. Then the corner pieces from fabric are added. They help keep the book block together and add integrity and a splash of colour.

The binding itself is then performed in a traditional pattern with silk thread (as required for a traditional Japanese craft binding).

Asian Style Notepads

These look very similar to the traditional Asian stab bound journals from above, but they are lacking the inner binding. Instead they have been stab bound directly. They make great notebooks to keep lists in. – I use them myself all the time.

I have them in varying designs and almost always available.

One can be had for £12, three for the price of two.

Recycled Jeans Books

The covers for all these books have been made from Jeans worn in my family. They have been prepared carefully to be worked into these covers. The pocket on the front cover is functional, but since a book board is more rigid than a bum, it is only possible to put in few and small items like a business card or maybe a rubber (not always, depends on your rubber).

The paper inside has been carefully chosen to make these quality notebooks. Due to their flexible binding, it is possible to use them easily across their full width which makes smaller notebooks still very workable.

Mo-No Butterfly binding with lino print on linen cover

The cover design is modelled after 20th century printing designs. The ink on fabric gives it a pleasant vintage, Shabby Chic look. Inside you will find 192 creme white pages of my favorite allround paper, pleasant to write on in a broad variety of pencils and pens. All have

- 192 pages (counting both sides of each sheet)
- a page format of approximately 12.5cm x 16cm

- bound in hardcovers, in my original butterfly buttonhole binding.
- covered in book linen
- the front cover is decorated with a hand printed, hand cut lino print

Leather Journals

Leather might be THE ultimate covering material for books: sturdy, gentle to touch, elegant, and traditional. All are one of a kind. As always: if you have any questions, let me know

Creative Prompt Journals

These journals are great for maintaining a daily practise for artists and writers.

They have 31 blank pages (16 sheets of paper) with space for a quick sketch or a short piece of writing in answer to the prompts given on each page.
